

2010 Media & Partnership Awards

FEBRUARY 10, 2010 SAN DIEGO, CA

About the Competition

Association of Partners for Public Lands is pleased to present its 2010 Media and Partnership Awards in San Diego, where our convention theme, Engagement—A Call to Action, explores ways that each of us can move from ideas to actions that further engage the public with our nation's parks, forests, lakes and monuments.

We congratulate all of our award recipients for the excellent work they do to achieve their goal of communicating what is special about our nations' public lands. Creative approaches, high quality content and attractive designs deliver an impressive array of products and programs that reflect the diversity of these special places, as well as the diversity of visitors who come to know and love them. These efforts to engage the public help enable visitors to understand, appreciate and care for America's public lands.

Twenty-five organizations from across the United States submitted 101 entries in 14 categories to this year's competition. Sixteen volunteer judges had the difficult task of choosing winners from so many excellent products and programs. APPL applauds all of the organizations whose attention to excellence and professionalism have made these awards a benchmark for quality products and programs.

All not-for-profit public land partner organizations regardless of their membership in APPL are eligible for entry in this awards program reflecting the multi-agency nature of APPL. We thank all the agencies for their support and for encouraging their partners to participate in this competition.

2010 Agency Partner of the Year Award

The Board of Directors and the Government Relations Committee of the Association of Partners for Public Lands (APPL) are pleased to announce the selection of Joe Meade, Forest Supervisor at Chugach National Forest, as our 2010 Agency Partner of the Year. This award recognizes a public lands agency employee who has demonstrated exceptional achievement in cultivating an atmosphere of partnership between their agency and the nonprofit organizations with which they are affiliated.

Joe has developed and maintained an atmosphere of mutual respect and trust among all partners through his absolute commitment to collaboration and inclusiveness.

He advocates for, supports and communicates the importance of partnerships at all levels of his agency's operations. Joe's commitment to accomplishing the Forest Service's mission "through the hands of others" is exemplified by the fact that, at every opportunity, he leverages resources in support of partners working toward shared stewardship.

Joe ensures that the agency's and its partners' efforts are mission-based and focused toward a common vision. Joe is a visionary with a strong commitment to the Forest Service mission, but at the same time, he is a true partner. Joe is a wonderful listener, and seeks understanding of partners' missions and needs before identifying potential intersections with Forest Service programs and resources. Joe very effectively identifies compatible organizations with overlapping missions, growing partnerships into webs of support. He leverages federal resources to foster partner contributions, and passionately promotes partners by highlighting their shared visions and successes.

Working with Joe, staffs at nonprofit partner organizations feel relevant, important, and even integral to the mission of the Chugach National Forest.

Joe has helped nonprofit partners become more effective at accomplishing their own work. His constant commitment to shared stewardship has contributed to successful, long-term partnerships that are sustained by the culture of partnership that he has inspired in his agency and amongst his partners.

Congratulations to this year's APPL Excellence Award winner, Red Rock Canyon Interpretive Association's Mojave Max Education Program! Mojave Max exceeded the demands of the initial program and expanded to include videos and teacher training for classroom presentations. Since the program's inception ten years ago, it has reached over 100,000 children and has become a model for successful multi-agency collaborations.

Mojave Max is the winner of the Education Program or Product category. Judges liked that it is fun and accessible for kids and has grown to involve the community in local environmental issues.
